

Root – a solution of an equation.

Roots of the Equation –

a number which, when substituted for the variable in the equation satisfies the equation.

For example: 2 is a root for the equation $x^2 - 4 = 0$, but 3 is not.